

Handwriting practice lines for the first section. The section consists of two systems. Each system has three blank five-line staves for tracing and three blank five-line staves for independent practice. The first system is labeled with 'T', 'A', and 'B' on the left side of the first staff.

Handwriting practice lines for the second section. The section consists of two systems. Each system has three blank five-line staves for tracing and three blank five-line staves for independent practice. The second system is labeled with 'T', 'A', and 'B' on the left side of the first staff.

Handwriting practice lines for the third section. The section consists of two systems. Each system has three blank five-line staves for tracing and three blank five-line staves for independent practice. The third system is labeled with 'T', 'A', and 'B' on the left side of the first staff.

Handwriting practice lines for the fourth section. The section consists of two systems. Each system has three blank five-line staves for tracing and three blank five-line staves for independent practice. The fourth system is labeled with 'T', 'A', and 'B' on the left side of the first staff.

Handwriting practice lines for the fifth section. The section consists of two systems. Each system has three blank five-line staves for tracing and three blank five-line staves for independent practice. The fifth system is labeled with 'T', 'A', and 'B' on the left side of the first staff.